Why Music?

With the many enrichment activity choices available for your infant, toddler or preschooler, WHY MUSIC?

psychologytoday.com - "Music Training Helps Learning & Memory" - by William R Klemm

"...the effects of music training are most robust for processing of music. But the benefit transfers to speech, language, emotion, and general auditory processing."

earlychildhoodnews.com - "Music and Movement - Instrumental in Language Development" - by Maryann Harman

"The vestibular system (part of the ear related to balance and movement) must be activated for learning to take place."

education.com - "How Music Can Help Your Child Learn" - by Zrinka Peters

"Beat and rhythms are key components in music. Children who can maintain a steady beat have a greater fluency in their reading. The music we sing provides vocabulary enrichment, teaches tenses and plurals, uses poetic language, allows visualization, and encourages good pronunciation."

Classes are taught by Mr. Jeff, who holds a Bachelor's of Music degree in Education and is a certified and experienced teacher with relevant experience including: 10 years within public schools, instrument training, and 4 years of offering his early childhood music program.

Group Piano Classes

Group classes are a great way to introduce your student to playing an instrument. There are multiple benefits to joining -

- They promote practicing because each student plays their song for the class.
- Young children are naturally social, and group classes provide an atmosphere that is fun and encouraging.
- Classes are small (max. 2 students), so students get a mix of one-on-one instruction and are encouraged to explore simple piano pieces independently, building confidence and skill.

Due to the small class-size, registration is First Come/First Serve
